

Coach Specific Training for NLP Practitioners & Master Practitioners

Anyone who has completed a full NLP Practitioner will have acquired many of the skills that they need to be a good coach, however, NLP training is not recognised as coach specific training by any of the coaching professional bodies. Until now people had to go back to square one and attend a basic coaching programme that would not take account of all of your prior learning.

Our coach programme has been designed to provide qualifying NLP Practitioners with the "Coach Specific Training" needed to apply for accreditation with either the International Coaching Federation (ICF) or the Association for Coaching (AC).

This coach programme will assume all of your prior knowledge and experience and give you the "missing pieces" of Coach Specific Training to apply for accreditation as a coach. It will cover the core competencies, hours and assessment required by both ICF and AC.

It is likely that there will be legislation over the next few years regulating the coaching, counselling and therapy professions. Also, with the growth of the coaching profession and the development of professional bodies accreditation is becoming a baseline standard.

Eligibility

This programme is open to anyone who has a NLP Practitioner Certification and has completed a minimum of 120 hours of NLP training.

The Programme

This programme will be delivered in a practical, interactive and enjoyable way. You will be encouraged to focus on real situations and the objectives which you want to achieve. The group will be kept small (maximum 12 people) to ensure interactivity and participation.

We take the view that people are whole beings. We will work at multiple levels to give you the training and development to integrate NLP with excellent coaching standards and practice.

Programme Requirements

A separate briefing document is available detailing the programme requirements. Many of these will also form part of your application for accreditation with Association for Coaching (AC) and/or International Coach Federation (ICF). In addition to attending the programme the requirements in summary are:

- Log 50 hours of client and peer coaching.
- Attend supervision. (This is at an additional cost and we will help you arrange this.)
- Record one live coaching session, provide a transcript and critique.
- Produce a case study
- Maintain a learning log.
- Essay giving your view of NLP and Coaching.
- Produce a statement of your approach to coaching and your coaching philosophy.
- There is a required reading list and a book review to complete.
- Demonstrate required competencies and ethical behaviours.

"A life enhancing and life affirming experience where I gained valuable skills, learned a lot, developed new insights and ways of thinking/behaving. I also met some fabulous people. Marie and Paul are exceptional people with incredible knowledge, skill and wisdom which they impart with joy and generosity, creating a wonderful environment in which to develop as a coach and as a human being."

SJ, Consultant and Executive Coach

Recognition

This course is recognised and approved by the Association for Coaching (AC) and by the International Coach Federation (ICF).

Additional Requirements for Accreditation

In addition to the requirements of this course there are further requirements for accreditation with the ICF or AC. We have produced a separate document detailing all that you need to do.
